

Confederate Army Under Tents Again in Far West End of the City

Jones, the "fighting parson," welcome addresses will be made by Governor Swanson, for Virginia; by Mayor McCarty, for the city, and by Mr. B. B. Morgan on behalf of the Sons of Veterans.

Committees will be announced and the meeting will adjourn.

At 2 o'clock the parade will be formed and the troops will march from the Hotel Square to the Stuart Monument, which will be unveiled by little Miss Virginia Stuart Waller, the six-year-old granddaughter of the great cavalry leader, General J. E. B. Stuart.

After a prayer by Rev. Walter Q. Hall, a member of General Stuart's staff, General Theodore S. Garnett will deliver an address, and Mayor McCarty will accept the statue on behalf of the city.

A major-general's salute will mark the unveiling.

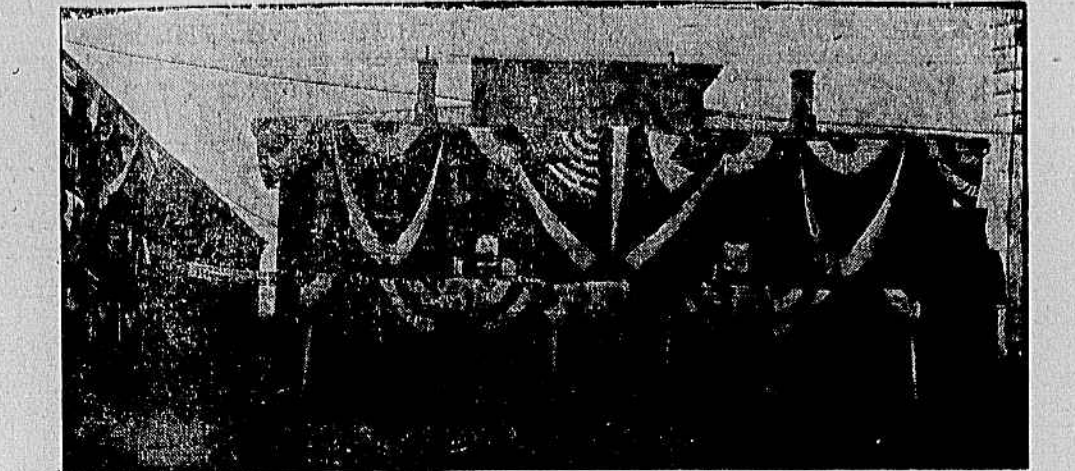

It had been planned to have J. E. B. Stuart, the grandson of General Stuart, to escort little Miss Waller, but Mr. W. Ben Palmer received last night the following telegram:

"Berry's for Clothes"—the dependable sort.

If you are a rider here are the new riding suits and fixings.
If a driver here is the new driving coat.
If a walker here is the new walking coat.
If a vacationist here is the new outing suit.
If a worker here's where we get together. Here's a business suit at $20 that you and I and every man of taste will appreciate.
From Hats to Shoes it's easy to choose an ideal Summer outfit at Berry's. For man or boy.

to those who have overcrowded the other assignments. Meal tickets will be issued to the men in camp and the miscellaneous serving of meals to all-comers will cease.

A large number of the veterans are quartered at the various State headquarters, and all who are in the city are urged to hunt up their State headquarters and sign the registers kept there.

Cots have been placed in various buildings, the halls of the University College of Medicine, the Woman's College, the Johnson Building and other large spaces where comfortable sleeping quarters can be secured. No provision is made for securing meals at these places, however, the veterans going out to the camp dining shed, or to the neighboring restaurants.

Most of the camp is in the city. A large brass band will be quartered in one of the copical tents at Camp Gordon for the pleasure of the veterans. Beyond the shortage of blankets, which occasioned considerable inconvenience, owing to the unexpected chilly weather, the only grumblers in camp were a band of young fellows from Gastonia, N. C., who objected because no mattresses were provided for their canvas cots. The complaints of the "tenderfeet" proved a huge source of amusement to the old campers, who on many a field had pitched their own tents and cooked their supper in the open air over a camp-fire. There was little sleeping at Camp Gordon last night, on account of the late arrival of many trains and the consequent incident to quartering the people. Camp-kits lapped will be sounded at 10 o'clock, and campers are urged to get to bed as quietly as possible, in order not to disturb the others.

W. Ben Palmer, Richmond, Va.
James operated on for appendicitis last night—under circumstances, wife, self and children, to be executed, J. E. B. STUART.
Mr. Palmer announced last night that the little girl would unveil the monument without assistance.

The ceremonies at the Stuart Monument, the march will be resumed to Hollywood, where Rev. Dr. William Dudley Powers will deliver the memorial address, followed by a salute of artillery and infantry and "taps." At night at 8:30 the Sons of Veterans will present to the officers of the division and maids of honor at the City Auditorium. Hon. Thomas N. Owen, commander-in-chief of the United Sons of Veterans, will preside.

The event of special interest on Friday morning is the speech of Colonel R. E. Lee, grandson of General R. E. Lee, to the veterans. The speech will follow Senator Daniel's oration at the House Show Building.

General Stephen D. Lee, commander-in-chief of the United Confederate Veterans, in speaking of the invitation to Colonel Lee to make the address, said that it was a signal mark of regard, for never before had the veterans gone out of their own ranks to find a speaker.

"It was the highest honor that the veterans could pay the son of a veteran," said General Lee.

Federal Officer Here.

In the parade to Stuart Monument there will be not less than 500 of the cavalrymen who followed the dashing horseman whose memory will be honored to-day. Of the officers of the division, Major Venable, inspector-general on General J. E. B. Stuart's staff, is of highest rank.

Among the many distinguished persons who will be seen in the parade will be Colonel J. M. Schoonmaker, a Federal officer who rode with Colonel John W. Gordon's staff.

Colonel Schoonmaker proved himself a friend to Virginia when he saved the V. M. I. building at Lexington and protected the grave of Stonewall Jackson. He came from Petersburg to prove his regard for the men in gray and to pay his homage to the memory of General J. E. B. Stuart.

ARMY SLEEPS UNDER CANVAS AT CAMP JOHN W. GORDON

Veterans Praise the Excellent Food and the Comfort of Their Quarters—Music and Song Entertain Old Soldiers—Band to Play at Camp.

Camp John W. Gordon presented a scene of animation all yesterday and late into last night. Incoming camps reported every few minutes through the day, all coming being fed promptly on arrival, and assigned to sleeping quarters. Every effort was made to keep the various State organizations together, but some States overstepped all bounds. North Carolina, assigned to the tents fronting on Pender Street, filled all of them before dark and, by 10 o'clock, the tents were full. The Seaboard Air Line had a special train at 6:10 P. M., with 455 passengers aboard from Nashville, and another from Raleigh at 6:10 P. M., another from Charlotte at 7:30, and another from Rutherfordton at 7:50 P. M. Nearly all trains were slightly delayed en route on this and on other roads. This morning the Seaboard will bring in a special train from Oklahoma City with several hundred Veterans and Sons; another from Atlanta and adjacent points, and another from Athens. All these trains are running in two sections; that is to say, as two trains.

Crowds by the Southern.

The Southern Railway is handling many hundreds of veterans and their lines into this city, and as many more via the Norfolk and Western from Bristol. One Southern train from New Orleans, running in two sections, brought 500 veterans, Sons and Daughters. Another train from Charlotte and adjacent North Carolina points was run in four sections, and brought 1,000 or more people. Four other long special trains were scheduled to arrive during the night, one of them having as a passenger Mrs. "Stonewall" Jackson, who comes from her North Carolina home. Other trains were pouring in all night long.

The Atlantic Coast Line and the Richmond, Fredericksburg and Potomac, the York River Railway and the steamer coming to Richmond were all crowded and special trains were run by some of them to accommodate the extraordinary movement of people. The movement is according to expectations, even, and they were high. It is impossible to form an intelligent estimate at this time of the number of strangers in the city.

POLICE HUNT FOR MAN WHO STOLE SECURITIES

INDIANAPOLIS, IND., May 29.—The police are searching for Frederick William Hoen, who is charged with the larceny from a safety deposit box in Fletcher's National Bank of $60,000 worth of stocks and bonds belonging to his sister, Mrs. Charles H. Hoid. Warrant was issued for Hoen's arrest on the charge of grand larceny.

GUATEMALAN TROOPS BUILD ENTRENCHMENTS

CITY OF MEXICO, May 29.—El Diario de la Tude, prints a special message from the border town of Tuxtla Gutierrez, which says that Guatemalan troops are throwing up entrenchments and mounting artillery opposite the town of Ocosingo. This information cannot at this time be officially confirmed, the government knowing nothing of this incident.

CHINESE UPRISING IN SWATOW

SWATOW, CHINA, May 29.—A proclamation issued by the Swatow Revolutionary Society declares that the Chinese are no longer content with the signs of ordinary Chinese subjects, but against the government, the intention of the revolutionists being to attack and ruin every system and exterminate the officials, with the object of overthrowing them.

The revolutionists in the neighborhood of Swatow have captured the entire family of a Chinese brigadier-general and compelled them all to drown themselves in a well.

RICHMOND CROWDED AS NEVER BEFORE

uncessing stream was directed to the offices of Captain C. T. Loehr, in the Shaffer Building, where lists of boarding-houses, with their accommodations, were on file. Thousands were quartered from this office during the day in boarding-houses and private houses at remarkably low rates. The hotels had nearly all made their engagements in advance, and filled up last night to the limit of their capacity, and stories were told of people sleeping on the billiard tables and in bathrooms at various places. At Ford's cots were placed in the parlors, and every effort was made to house those who came without former provision.

Sleep at Police Station.

A report came in last night that several people had gone to the Second Police Station asking for quarters, stating that they had been walking all day. Captain Loehr's headquarters, in charge of Mr. William Loehr and Mr. Henry Lee Valentine, were kept open all night. Considerable difficulty was experienced late in the night in finding quarters for parties of ladies whose trains arrived after midnight, when nearly all private houses were closed, and Camp John W. Gordon was reported to be filled up last night, and quarters will have to be found in the large warehouse buildings at the disposal of the committee for those scheduled to come in this morning.

The Mechanical Institute has thrown open its doors to the veterans, as well as a number of large buildings both in this city and in Manchester. The Elks' hall of the latter city was offered last night, and may be brought into use if the crowds continue to come in.

The committee institute has made the following list of information made in this city and in Manchester. The Elks' hall of the latter city was offered last night, and may be brought into use if the crowds continue to come in.

Soldier Musicians.

Out in front of the camp, mounted on a goods box was W. J. Robertson, of Company K, Fifteenth North Carolina, with his band, playing the skillful and melodious music of the instrument. A space was cleared in front, and one after another was added to the group until a dozen were shuffling a quick step with marvelous agility, considering their hoary appearance. A minute later if F. Brank, Company H, Thirteenth North Carolina, was lifted to the goods box platform, and all noticed the empty right sleeve.

Between his knees he gripped his fiddle-bow, and by a marvelous trick managed to so wiggle the strings of his fiddle as to produce a really creditable "Dixie," which brought men cheering from their tents.

Oceans of Coffee.

When the dining-shed was opened for lunch yesterday only a few hundred men had reported. All during the afternoon and evening camps reported, a trainload coming from Mississippi in almost famished condition. They were promptly marched into the great dining-shed, and soon the white aproned waiters were serving bacon and corned beef, with potatoes, ham, bread and oceans of coffee. Unceasing relays of coffeeports seemed to come from the kitchens in the rear, and upon inquiry it was found that four sixty-gallon boilers, with two of smaller size, were under full steam, with a capacity of some 400 gallons an hour.

TO REVIEW FLEETS FROM THE MAYFLOWER

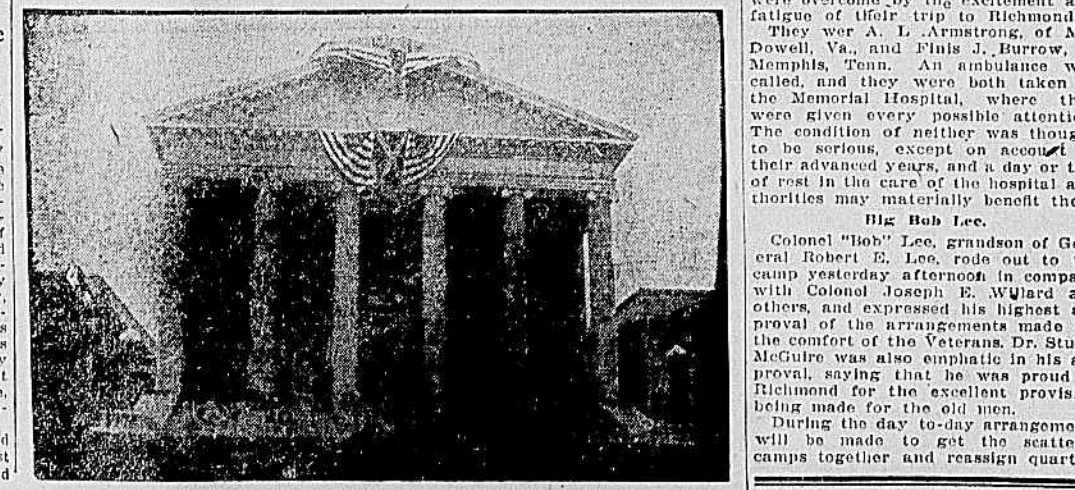

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 29.—President Roosevelt will not review the fleets assembled in Hampton Roads from the deck of the battleship Georgia, as he had intended to do, on Georgia Day, June 10th, at the Jamestown Exposition. The plans have been changed in that regard, and the review will be made from the Mayflower in the same manner as on the opening day of the exposition.

A Great Roast!

Over a ton of Arbuckles' Ariosa Coffee is roasted at a time, in a large revolving cylinder, which drops the coffee through heat again and again until each bean is uniformly roasted.

No other coffee is in sufficient demand to afford such scientific and perfect preparation.

The sales of Arbuckles' Ariosa Coffee exceed the sales of all other packaged coffees combined, and this scientific roasting, which no other coffee can afford, by its very magnitude, reduces our cost to a minimum, and enables us, with our other advantages, to give better value in Arbuckles' Ariosa Coffee than is possible for any one else.

Arbuckles' Ariosa Coffee is the cheapest good coffee in the world, and the best of all for you.

ARBUCKLE BROS., New York City.

Purposes of Organization Explained by Commander.

BY GENERAL STEPHEN D. LEE, Commander-in-Chief, U. C. V.

(Written Especially for The Times-Dispatch.)

The United Confederate Veterans' Association, known as the "United Confederate Veterans," has for its objects: "Social, Literary, Historical and Benevolent." It will strive to unite in one general feeling all Confederate veterans, the object being to cultivate the ties of friendship which should always exist among those who have shared common dangers, sufferings and privations.

One important object is to encourage the writing, by participants therein, of accounts, narratives, memoirs, histories of battles, episodes and occurrences of the War between the States.

To do this, they are urged to gather authentic data, statistics, documents, reports, plans, maps and other material for an impartial history of the Confederate side to collect and preserve relics and mementoes of the war to make and perpetuate a record of the service of every member, as far as possible, of those of our comrades who have preceded us into eternity.

The organization is also to see that all of the disabled and needy are cared for that a helping hand be extended to the needy, and that the Confederate widows and orphans are protected and assisted to urge and aid in the erection of enduring monuments to our great leaders, and to mark with suitable headstones the graves of the Confederate dead, wherever found, and to instill into our descendants a proper veneration for the spirit and glory of their fathers, and to bring them into association with our organization, that they may aid in accomplishing our objects and purposes, and finally succeed in making up our work where we leave it.

The organization has now been in existence since 1880, and it has done very much in carrying out the objects and purposes, as indicated above. The historical committee has made important reports, which will aid the future historian in seeking justice and truth. The literary committee is publishing the purity and integrity of their purpose and endurance of suffering and display of fortitude unsurpassed in the history of the world.

We are proud to say to any that the very government against which we fought has been put to the test by the call for bids for 20,000 headstones to mark the graves of those who died in prisons and in hospitals in the North during the war.

We are happy to say that a spirit of true patriotism has not only accentuated this Confederacy, but also that of the Union Army, to bring about a complete obliteration of the bitterness of the great War between the States, and we on both sides now are generous enough to impute pure and lofty instincts the one to the other.

This organization has had much to do in bringing this era of good feeling about, and I may say that the bitterness of that terrible year has been put to the rear in the common love of a common country.

On the old Confederate Capitol to-day, hanging side by side, are the Stars and Stripes of our reunited country and the Stars and Bars of the Confederate flag. This, in the capital of the Confederacy, is most significant, and shows that we are now all proud of being American citizens and owing allegiance to the flag of the greatest nation on the face of the earth.
